Permanent and significant disability

A permanent and significant disability means a disability is likely to be lifelong and has a substantial impact on a person's ability to complete everyday activities.

I'm over 65, Can I apply?

No. If you're over 65, you can't access the NDIS - but that doesn't mean you won't receive support. If you're aged 65 or over and are currently receiving disability supports, you'll continue to receive the same level of support as before, just not through the NDIS.
